Discovery Day at Historic Huntley!
Saturday, April 14, 1–4 p.m.
6918 Harrison Lane, Alexandria
Sponsored by FOHH
Suggested donation, $5

Come to Historic Huntley and discover this beautiful 19th-century villa and how it has changed over the 193 years of its history.

Learn about its federal-period architecture and service as a country retreat for the wealthy Alexandria mayor who built it; the transformation and long-time utilization as a year-round, dairy farming residence for the Harrison family; and the post-WWII commuter home it became for Colonel Ransom G. Amlong, his wife, and their six children.

Look out for Jon Vrana, historical reenactor, and representatives from George Mason’s Gunston Hall, the Fairfax County Historic Courthouse, and Friends of Fairfax Archaeology.

For this family-oriented event, come prepared to sleuth through Huntley photos, maps, and artifacts; tour the house; participate in old-time activities such as ice cream- and butter-making; and snap a selfie or Facebook pic with Huntley the Cow. Don’t miss this opportunity to celebrate spring in historic style!

“Sold to the Lady Bidder!”
FOHH Acquires Betsey Mason Letter by Carolyn Gamble
Within 24 hours of FOHH’s learning that a letter written by Betsey C. Mason was to be auctioned off, I found myself at The Potomack Company auction house in Alexandria assessing the letter. I discovered it to be in perfect condition, complete with remnants of sealing wax.

The letter is addressed to magistrate John A. Washington III of Mt. Vernon. Although the letter is undated, we know that Washington became a Fairfax County magistrate in 1844. Through the letter, Betsey appears to be appealing to Washington’s leniency when he presides over an upcoming trial of some of her slaves. Here is how the letter begins:

My dear Sir,

I am just informed that my negroes are to be tried before you for certain offences, which they are supposed to have committed against the law during the recent Christmas holidays.

I am glad at least that they will receive their trial before a man of honor & sensibility to the rights of & feelings of the slave as well as the slaveholder & feeling that confidence in you, yield to this painful necessity, urged upon me however at a time by those who might under the circumstances of my family, have had a gentler feeling for me.

The FOHH Board was excited at the possibility of acquiring this letter. First, it is written by Betsey herself; and second, its subject is slavery. FOHH continued on page 2

Tea at Historic Huntley
Monday, May 14, 1:30–3 p.m.
6918 Harrison Lane, Alexandria
Registration fee, $15

Tea

Warms you when you’re cold,
Cools you when you’re hot,
Cheers you up when you’re depressed,
and calms you when you can’t sleep.
What would the world do without tea?
I am glad I was not born before tea.
—William Gladstone, British Prime Minister

How about a day-after-Mother’s Day celebration?! A cream tea at Huntley is the perfect gift for mom. Here’s an opportunity to treat her to a relaxing pot (or two) of freshly brewed tea. Indulge her with scones slathered in clotted cream and jam, and a plate heaped with tea bread and short bread, following in the tradition of an English tearoom—just how Betsey Mason would have entertained at Huntley. We have no doubt Mrs. Mason would approve. Register at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/parks/parktakes. For more information, call 703.768.2525.

President’s Column
by Todi Carnes

It was certainly a thrill this January to have Betsey C. Mason virtually reach out from some 150 years ago and speak to us through strong, clear words written in her own hand. It was equally exciting to purchase Betsey’s letter, as described by Carolyn Gamble in this newsletter. Our goal was to ensure that the letter did not end up in the hands of a private collector, but that it would be publicly accessible for review and research by Huntley fans, scholars, and other members of the public.

To that end, our work in connection with the letter’s acquisition is just beginning. I’ll soon be appointing a committee to locate a final repository for the letter—one that can properly preserve and store it, while also maintaining public access to it. Organizations under consideration include Fairfax County Park Authority Collections, Gunston Hall, Mount Vernon’s Library for the Study of George Washington, Alexandria’s Queen Street Library, and George Mason University’s Library. These organizations all have some manner of connection to T.F. and/or Betsey Mason. If you know of another such organization that might make a good home for Betsey’s letter, please let me know (todicarnes@verizon.net).

Finally, I extend a special thanks to FOHH Board members and supporters for their expeditious and enthusiastic support of the letter’s acquisition. To join them in seeding FOHH’s new Acquisitions Fund, contributions may be sent to “Friends of Historic Huntley” with a note in the memo line “for Acquisitions” and mailed to FOHH, P.O. Box 7241, Alexandria, VA 22307-0241.

strongly supports researching and interpreting the lives of the enslaved people owned by the T.F. Mason family.

So on Saturday, January 27, some 24 hours after having examined the letter, I found myself at the auction house wielding paddle #742 on FOHH’s behalf. Huntley fans Kathi McNeil and Patty Young joined me in the fun. None of us had ever been to an auction before. A Nakashima table went for $40,000! After three hours, the sale of documents began.

Hearts pounding, we grew excited as items were sold for prices much lower than initial estimates. The auction house’s valuation of Betsey’s letter was $600-$900. “Oh boy,” we thought, “we might acquire the letter for less than $600!” Finally, the letter came up, and the auctioneer reported that off-site bidding for the document was up to $1,200. Did he hear $1,300 from the floor? I was so shocked at the price that I failed to put up the paddle! Kathi had to nudge me into action. I put up the paddle. The auctioneer pointed my way and said, “Sold to the lady bidder!”

And that is how, less than 50 hours after having been first notified of its existence, FOHH came to be the proud owner of this significant and coveted letter, an important piece of the Historic Huntley story. (See the letter in its entirety at www.historichuntley.org.)

Karla Jamir

The purchase of the Betsey C. Mason letter was funded by donations from FOHH members and supporters, plus a generous contribution from Karla Jamir. Karla is an FOHH lifetime member, Friends of Huntley Meadows Park Board member, and a long-time volunteer at the park.

Stories from the Used Book Sale
by Stephen F. Kimbel

More than just the stories contained within their pages, books at Historic Huntley’s used book sale have other stories to tell, too—stories about their prior owners. Over the past year, Lara White has made many donations to the FOHH used book sale in memory of her late parents, Carolyn and Roy McDonald.
Carolyn and Roy met in the District of Columbia in 1940. Carolyn was a student at the Corcoran Art School and Roy worked with the FBI. Following their WWII service—Carolyn in the Office of War Information, Roy in the Army Air Corps, they married in 1946. They enjoyed traveling and entertaining family and friends, and shared a love of local history.

In the 1970’s, Lara and her mother liked to go exploring on their way home from the shops or after school. They discovered Huntley during one of these adventures. Colonel Ransom G. and Margarette Amlong had purchased Huntley in 1949. Lara attended a party at the house when it was still owned by the Amlong family. After Fairfax County acquired the property from the Amlong estate in 1989, Carolyn kept pace with restoration efforts through the FOHH newsletter. Lara took note of the happiness these updates on Huntley brought to her mother.

When Huntley opened to public in spring 2012, mother and daughter came to see the house in its restored Mason-era glory. Carolyn, nearing 90 but determined to climb the steep walkway, was delighted by a ride up to the house in the electric-powered golf cart. Marveling at the restoration, they found the ornately carved fireplace mantel in the living room particularly memorable, as well as the incomparable view of Hybla Valley.

Roy passed away in 2007 and Carolyn in 2015. Through Lara’s donations from the McDonalds’ library to the FOHH used book sale, their memories live on in the Huntley programs and activities those sales support.

FOHH as a Beneficiary
Have you thought of leaving something to FOHH in your will or as a beneficiary of part or all of the remains of a retirement account? While FOHH can accept small donations, the Fairfax County Park Foundation—www.fairfaxparkfoundation.org—is best-equipped to handle larger ones. It is a nonprofit dedicated to raising funds for and distributing them to the Fairfax County Park Authority, which owns Historic Huntley. To ensure your funds will only be used in support of Historic Huntley, have your estate planning attorney expressly include this limitation on the gift. For more information, contact Roberta “Bobbi” Longworth at roberta.longworth@fairfaxcounty.gov or 703.324.8581. As they say, “You can’t take it with you”—but you can leave a legacy to Historic Huntley through the Fairfax County Park Foundation.
